Obligation End Date: May 20, 2035* (25 Years from Commencement)

Obligation Status: In Compliance

Obligation

Undergraduate Scholarships for Aid-Eligible Students from the Local Community. In an effort to encourage students to attend Columbia College and the Fu School of Engineering and Applied Science, CU shall undertake a targeted recruitment effort for qualified students from the local community. Commencing on May 20, 2009, CU shall establish a scholarship fund to serve up to 40 aid-eligible undergraduate students per year who are admitted to Columbia College and the Fu School of Engineering and Applied Science from Harlem, with funding made available to meet their fully demonstrated financial need until 2033 or for a period of 25 years from commencement, whichever is longer.

*Undergraduate scholarships were made available with the start of the 2010-2011 academic year, one year after the trigger date. Therefore, this obligation will be in effect until the 2034-2035 academic year, 25 years from the commencement of the obligation implementation.

Note: In Spring 2014, the financial support for local students was officially named the Thompson-Muñoz scholarship award, named after two local Columbia graduates.

Outreach Plan Summary

Columbia Summer Programs College Fair - Every summer Columbia University hosts one of the largest summer college fairs in the country attracting over 100 colleges from across the country. The breadth and depth of our college preparatory efforts for local students increases the popularity of our summer college fair. The college fair consists of workshops for local parents and students, including tips for performing your college search and navigating the college fair, a workshop on financial aid, and a workshop on the college application process.

Scholarships for Local Students Honor Two Distinguished Alumni

Albert Thompson and Carlos Muñoz lived on the same block of West 116th Street and knew each other at Columbia College, overlapping for one year. Now their names jointly grace a new Columbia initiative for future generations of local students.

The initiative, named last spring in their honor, identifies some 40 promising undergraduates in West Harlem, Washington Heights, Inwood and the South Bronx. The students, who are welcomed into the program when they receive their acceptance letters from Columbia, have the opportunity to attend special events where they meet alumni and community leaders.

The program is one of many scholarship and grant programs the University administers to ensure economic diversity on campus, joining other initiatives such as the Dyckman Institute Scholarships for outstanding students from Washington Heights and Inwood. Financial aid workshops are held in the local community to publicize these and other efforts.

Carlos Muñoz and Albert Thompson

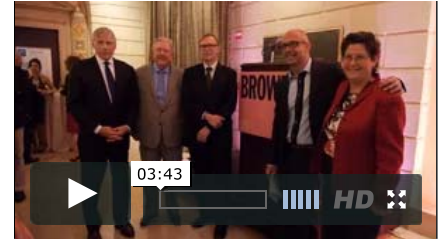

"Columbia is defined by the city we call home and by our historic commitment to providing educational opportunity to a remarkable diversity of young people, regardless of their family's income," said Columbia President Lee C. Bollinger. "We reach out to attract talented students all across the nation who are the first member of their family to attend college, but nowhere more so than our own New York community. We are proud to add the Thompson-Muñoz Scholars to this effort that's so central to our mission."

Columbia College and The Fu Foundation School of Engineering and Applied Science both participate in the program. Nearly half of the students at the College and School of Engineering receive financial aid, and 16 percent of the first-year students are the first in their family to attend college.

James J. Valentini, dean of Columbia College and vice president for undergraduate education, said, "Our goal with this program, as with financial aid in general, is to admit students based on their ability to contribute to and benefit from our community, not on their ability to pay for the experience."

Columbia provides need-blind admissions for U.S. citizens and permanent residents, meeting 100 percent of demonstrated financial need for all four years of study. Students on financial aid receive on average more than $42,000 annually.

Jessica Marinaccio, dean of undergraduate admissions and financial aid, said socioeconomic diversity is essential for building a representative student body. “Affordability and access are major themes in our outreach to prospective and admitted students,” she said.

One of the Thompson-Muñoz scholars is Jean-Franco Diaz (CC’16), who grew up in the Dominican community in Washington Heights. Diaz, who intends to major in economics and political science, said, “Attending Columbia has given me a global perspective.” Janay Anderson (CC’17), who grew up 20 blocks from Columbia and plans to major in the Medicine, Literature and Society track, said the University has prepared her to help her community.

Manhattan Borough President Gale A. Brewer (GS’97), speaking at a reception in October for the Thompson-Muñoz scholars, praised Columbia’s educational outreach programs, singling out the Double Discovery Center, which offers tutoring, standardized test-prep and Saturday enrichment classes. “These students go on to do great things in the world.” Indeed, columnist Frank Bruni recently profiled the benefits of a full-time summer session held on campus for college-bound local students in The New York Times.

Peter Johnson, director of Enrollment Group Special Projects and special assistant to the dean of undergraduate admissions and financial aid, applauded the students for their intellectual curiosity, initiative and hard work. “It is not a privilege to attend Columbia,” he told the students. “But it is an honor. Privileges are bestowed on us, honors you earn.” Roosevelt Montas (CC’95), associate dean and director of the Center for the Core Curriculum, told them, “Your presence enriches all of our experiences.”

Thompson (CC’54), a Columbia shot put record-holder who continued his track and field career in the Naval Reserves, graduated from both Columbia College and the College of Dental Medicine, where he is now an assistant clinical professor.

Muñoz (CC’57, MA’61) likewise earned a pair of degrees from the University, graduating from the College before getting a master’s degree in economics. He climbed to executive vice president for credit and risk management at Dime Savings Bank of New York. A former president of the Columbia College Alumni Association and member of the College’s Board of Visitors, Muñoz has long donated his time to his alma mater. He said the initiative made him proud of his Columbia heritage and had this advice for students: “Keep your minds open to all areas of opinion and take advantage of the trove of knowledge available at the University.”

Thompson told the students that while they deserved to be commended for getting into Columbia, they didn’t do it alone. “Your parents deserve credit for providing an environment for you to succeed,” he said. And going forward, he said later, they will have to help each other. “The biggest asset that all of these students have is one another.”

Dear :

The enrollment landscape is ever changing. Increased competition, media scrutiny, new technologies, and a tumultuous economic climate are just a few of the most pressing issues of recent admission cycles. Columbia, Cooper Union, CUNY, Fordham, NYU and SUNY want to invite you into a dialogue on these and other topics that impact the work that you do and the families you serve.

We hope that you can register to attend our 4th Annual “NYC Directors of Admission Panel” on Thursday, October 13, at 8:30 a.m., with coffee and a continental breakfast available at 8 a.m. The panel will be held at Fordham University's Lincoln Center campus, at 140 W. 62nd St., in the McNally Amphitheatre. Jeff Makris, Director of College Counseling at Stuyvesant High School, will moderate.

Your participation is encouraged! Come listen to our perspectives on admission and share your ideas, concerns and suggestions. The program will conclude by 10:30 a.m., depending on the volume of questions. Of course, guests can depart as their schedules dictate. And, the directors will remain after the formal program to answer your individual questions.

To RSVP, please click here. Feel free to share this invitation with your colleagues. Space is limited, so we encourage you to reserve your place today.

Summer Programs College Fair at Columbia University in the City of New York

Date: Thursday, July 20, 2017

Location: Roone Arledge Auditorium, Lerner Hall
Enter on Broadway between 114th and 115th Streets
Registration Form

Columbia's Office of Undergraduate Admissions invites you and your high school students to participate in our annual summer college fair on Thursday, July 20, 2017. Students and educators will have the chance to meet with representatives from over 100 colleges. The fair is a wonderful opportunity to learn about future educational options, academic and social support at the undergraduate level and financial aid and scholarship resources.

Registration

Groups are asked to register online for one of two sessions during which students will have access to the college fair and educational workshops on admissions and financial aid. Groups can attend the college fair from 12:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. or 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The educational workshops are scheduled to take place in advance of fair attendance at 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. and will be led by admissions officers from a range of institutions.

To ensure the best possible experience for all attendees, we ask that you please arrive on time and only during your registered time. We anticipate a large number of attendees and will not be able to accommodate guests in advance of their registered time slot.

The registration deadline is Friday, July 7, 2017. We strongly recommend that you register early as space is limited. Registration will close before the deadline if we reach capacity.

COLUMBIA UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

The Office of Undergraduate Admissions cordially invites you and your family to attend the

Columbia Engineering Women's Forum
Monday, October 17, 2016
Registration begins at 9:00 a.m.

Columbia students come from all over the world and represent a variety of academic interests, life experiences and perspectives. With 47% of this year's first-year engineering class comprised of women and with over half of our incoming class self-identifying as students of color, we are one of the most diverse schools of engineering in the country.

At the Engineering Women's Forum students and parents will meet renowned Columbia Engineering faculty, be introduced to Columbia's unique approach to engineering and learn about the exciting opportunities available to female engineers at Columbia.

The program includes:

- A welcome from Columbia Engineering's dean, Dean Mary C. Boyce
- A roundtable discussion with female engineering faculty
- A departmental session to learn about an area of study within engineering
- A panel of student leaders discussing campus life and engineering co-curricular organizations
- An opportunity to learn about Columbia's holistic admission process and generous financial aid policies, or to attend an engineering campus tour

Kindly RSVP online, as space is limited.

Check-in will begin at 9:00 a.m.; the program starts promptly at 9:30 a.m.
More information about the event can be found on our website.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Congratulations!

Welcome to Columbia University!

Show your Columbia Pride!
Tag your photos and posts with #roar2021

We are excited to invite you to our annual Columbia College Days on Campus program for admitted students. Attend master classes; catch a student performance showcase; eat in John Jay Dining Hall; enjoy an evening bus tour of NYC; and meet with faculty, administrators and your future classmates.

This is your chance to see what it means to be a Columbian.

Dates and Times

You may select one of two Columbia College Days on Campus programs for your visit: Sunday, April 9, to Monday, April 10, or Sunday, April 23, to Monday, April 24. Check in between 1:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Day 1 (April 9 or April 23). Programming will end around 4:00 p.m. on Day 2 (April 10 or April 24). Both programs are identical; the choice is yours.

Class Visits

Beyond the special master class sessions, you also have the opportunity to attend a class of your choice on the Monday of Days on Campus (April 10 or April 24). In addition to registering for Days on Campus, you must also register separately for class visits through the Welcome Website. Please note that space is limited, so we encourage you to sign up as soon as possible.

Hosting

The Admissions Office can arrange for you to stay overnight in a residence hall with a current student host on the evening of April 9 or April 23. Alternatively, you are welcome to make plans to stay with your family, a friend or someone you know at Columbia.

If you are not able to stay overnight, the Welcome Website gives you the option of registering for daytime programming only.

Registration

Visit our Welcome Website to RSVP, view the schedule of events and get information on directions to campus and accommodations for family members.

Please feel free to direct any questions to ugrad-welcome@columbia.edu or the Days on Campus Hotline at 212-854-5924, open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time.

with Professor and Astronaut Michael Massimino '84SEAS

Saturday, May 6, 2017

10:00 a.m.

Alfred Lerner Hall
Roone Arledge Auditorium
Columbia University

This on-campus class will give you an opportunity to hear from an accomplished alumnus and professor in mechanical engineering and to learn first-hand why some of the world's most talented students with an interest in engineering and science choose to study at Columbia.

Admissions officers will be on hand to answer your questions. An optional campus tour will conclude the program.

cordially invites you and your family to attend one of our

Columbia Summer STEM Previews

Science Preview: July 31, 2017
Engineering Preview: August 4, 2017

Each preview is an opportunity to learn about the distinctive advantages of studying engineering or science at Columbia University across several renowned departments. You will hear directly from world-class faculty, school administrators and current students. At each program, you can attend a master class, enjoy a panel where students will share their personal Columbia experience and learn more about applying to Columbia as a prospective scientist or engineer.

For more information about each event and to register, please visit our website.

We look forward to seeing you at a STEM Preview this summer!

 COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK

COLUMBIA UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

Dear Larry,

On behalf of Columbia University, The Fu Foundation School of Engineering and Applied Science and the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, we would like to invite you to apply to the Columbia Engineering Experience \(CE²\) program taking place October 8-10, 2017.

CE² is Columbia's only selective three-day overnight program designed for current high school seniors who are interested in a Columbia Engineering education. The program will include:

- 100% funding: Participate in every aspect of the program without concern about financial constraints. All meals, housing and transportation, including travel to and from New York City, will be funded by Columbia.
- World-class faculty and research: Meet members of Columbia's renowned faculty and visit our world-class research centers.
- Inside look at life as a Columbian: Stay with an undergraduate host, experience campus life and meet current students. In previous years, participants have met student leaders from a variety of student organizations such as Engineers Without Borders, the National Society of Black Engineers, the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers, the Native American Council and the Society of Women Engineers.
- Exclusive career and entrepreneurship opportunities: Take a behind-the-scenes tour of a leading engineering firm or organization in New York City. Past attendees have visited Google, Bloomberg, the World Trade Center Transportation Hub and the Columbia University Medical Center, to cite just a few examples.
- The NYC advantage: Learn about the cultural, professional, research and intellectual opportunities at our doorstep.
- Admissions 101: Participate in comprehensive college admissions and financial aid workshops conducted by members of the Columbia Admissions Committee.

Due to the selectivity and limited size of the program, an application with a school report is required. CE² is designed for high-achieving seniors who have:

- Exemplary academic records, particularly in math and science
- Sincere interest in pursuing an engineering education
- Backgrounds that are historically underrepresented in the engineering and applied science fields (typically including underrepresented students of color, students who will be the first generation in their family to attend college, students from underserved communities and low-income students)
- Genuine appreciation for the educational value of diversity in all its forms

Please submit your application online by Wednesday, September 6, 2017. Students selected for the program will be notified on September 20, 2017.

We hope you consider this unique opportunity to learn more about Columbia Engineering!

Sincerely,

Dana Pavarini
Director of Engineering Recruitment

Jessica Cho
Director of Multicultural Recruitment
