Obligation

Undergraduate Scholarships for Aid-Eligible Students from the Local Community. In an effort to encourage students to attend Columbia College and the Fu School of Engineering and Applied Science, CU shall undertake a targeted recruitment effort for qualified students from the local community. Commencing on May 20, 2009, CU shall establish a scholarship fund to serve up to 40 aid-eligible undergraduate students per year who are admitted to Columbia College and the Fu School of Engineering and Applied Science from Harlem, with funding made available to meet their fully demonstrated financial need until 2033 or for a period of 25 years from commencement, whichever is longer.

*Undergraduate scholarships were made available with the start of the 2010-2011 academic year, one year after the trigger date. Therefore, this obligation will be in effect until the 2034-2035 academic year, 25 years from the commencement of the obligation implementation.

Note: In Spring 2014, the financial support for local students was officially named the Thompson-Muñoz scholarship award, named after two local Columbia graduates.

Outreach Plan Summary

Columbia Summer Programs College Fair - Every summer Columbia University hosts one of the largest summer college fairs in the country attracting over 100 colleges from across the country. The breadth and depth of our college preparatory efforts for local students increases the popularity of our summer college fair. The college fair consists of workshops for local parents and students, including tips for performing your college search and navigating the college fair, a workshop on financial aid, and a workshop on the college application process.

Scholarships for Local Students Honor Two Distinguished Alumni

Albert Thompson and Carlos Muñoz lived on the same block of West 116th Street and knew each other at Columbia College, overlapping for one year. Now their names jointly grace a new Columbia initiative for future generations of local students.

The initiative, named last spring in their honor, identifies some 40 promising undergraduates in West Harlem, Washington Heights, Inwood and the South Bronx. The students, who are welcomed into the program when they receive their acceptance letters from Columbia, have the opportunity to attend special events where they meet alumni and community leaders.

The program is one of many scholarship and grant programs the University administers to ensure economic diversity on campus, joining other initiatives such as the Dyckman Institute Scholarships for outstanding students from Washington Heights and Inwood. Financial aid workshops are held in the local community to publicize these and other efforts.

Carlos Muñoz and Albert Thompson

"Columbia is defined by the city we call home and by our historic commitment to providing educational opportunity to a remarkable diversity of young people, regardless of their family's income," said Columbia President Lee C. Bollinger. "We reach out to attract talented students all across the nation who are the first member of their family to attend college, but nowhere more so than our own New York community. We are proud to add the Thompson-Muñoz Scholars to this effort that's so central to our mission."

Columbia College and The Fu Foundation School of Engineering and Applied Science both participate in the program. Nearly half of the students at the College and School of Engineering receive financial aid, and 16 percent of the first-year students are the first in their family to attend college.

James J. Valentini, dean of Columbia College and vice president for undergraduate education, said, "Our goal with this program, as with financial aid in general, is to admit students based on their ability to contribute to and benefit from our community, not on their ability to pay for the experience."

Columbia provides need-blind admissions for U.S. citizens and permanent residents, meeting 100 percent of demonstrated financial need for all four years of study. Students on financial aid receive on average more than $42,000 annually.

Jessica Marinaccio, dean of undergraduate admissions and financial aid, said socioeconomic diversity is essential for building a representative student body. "Affordability and access are major themes in our outreach to prospective and admitted students," she said.

One of the Thompson-Muñoz scholars is Jean-Franco Diaz (CC'16), who grew up in the Dominican community in Washington Heights. Diaz, who intends to major in economics and political science, said, "Attending Columbia has given me a global perspective." Janay Anderson (CC'17), who grew up 20 blocks from Columbia and plans to major in the Medicine, Literature and Society track, said the University has prepared her to help her community.

Manhattan Borough President Gale A. Brewer (GS'97), speaking at a reception in October for the Thompson-Muñoz scholars, praised Columbia's educational outreach programs, singling out the Double Discovery Center, which offers tutoring, standardized test-prep and Saturday enrichment classes. "These students go on to do great things in the world." Indeed, columnist Frank Bruni recently profiled the benefits of a full-time summer session held on campus for college-bound local students in The New York Times.

Peter Johnson, director of Enrollment Group Special Projects and special assistant to the dean of undergraduate admissions and financial aid, applauded the students for their intellectual curiosity, initiative and hard work. "It is not a privilege to attend Columbia," he told the students. "But it is an honor. Privileges are bestowed on us, honors you earn." Roosevelt Montas (CC'95), associate dean and director of the Center for the Core Curriculum, told them, "Your presence enriches all of our experiences."

Thompson (CC'54), a Columbia shot put record-holder who continued his track and field career in the Naval Reserves, graduated from both Columbia College and the College of Dental Medicine, where he is now an assistant clinical professor.

Muñoz (CC'57, MA'61) likewise earned a pair of degrees from the University, graduating from the College before getting a master's degree in economics. He climbed to executive vice president for credit and risk management at Dime Savings Bank of New York. A former president of the Columbia College Alumni Association and member of the College's Board of Visitors, Muñoz has long donated his time to his alma mater. He said the initiative made him proud of his Columbia heritage and had this advice for students: "Keep your minds open to all areas of opinion and take advantage of the trove of knowledge available at the University."

Thompson told the students that while they deserved to be commended for getting into Columbia, they didn't do it alone. "Your parents deserve credit for providing an environment for you to succeed," he said. And going forward, he said later, they will have to help each other. "The biggest asset that all of these students have is one another."

Copy of HEOP Letter Mailed to Schools in Targeted Zip Codes

October 24, 2017

A Philip Randolph Campus High
College Guidance Office
433 W 135th St
New York, NY 10031-9106

Dear Colleague,

We are proud to partner with you in your effort to support the college aspirations of students from a wide variety of backgrounds, including those with limited financial resources. Columbia University has a longstanding commitment to making our education accessible and affordable, and for decades we have supported high-achieving, low-income students through the New York State Arthur O. Eve Higher Educational Opportunity Program (HEOP) and our own National Opportunity Program (NOP).

These need-based programs provide enhanced academic and financial assistance for a select group of Columbia College and Columbia Engineering students. There is no separate application for consideration for either program. Competitive candidates for HEOP/NOP excel academically, actively participate in their community, demonstrate intellectual curiosity and show that they will especially benefit from additional support services. HEOP students must also meet financial guidelines set by New York State. We find that the strongest HEOP/NOP applicants can articulate their fit for the distinctive Columbia experience, which includes the fundamental Core Curriculum and a both traditionally collegiate and unmistakably urban campus life where curious thinkers come to grow. We work closely with Columbia's Academic Success Programs to provide a holistic approach to student development which includes:

- Financial Aid: Though most HEOP/NOP students graduate in four years, they are eligible for up to five years of full need-based financial aid for tuition, books, room and meals. Our need-based aid is in the form of grants and student work only; loans are not used to meet financial need. A semester book stipend is provided to students for the duration of their time at Columbia. Students will also receive a laptop upon arrival to campus.
- Summer Bridge Program: HEOP/NOP students participate in a required five-week residential academic program that prepares participants for college-level courses in the areas of critical reading and analysis, formal writing, laboratory science and mathematics. Students engage evenings and weekends in team-building exercises and excursions in New York City to foster personal development and a sense of community.
- Advising and Tutoring: All students have individual professional advisers who work with them closely throughout their time at Columbia to set and reach their academic goals. Students also have access to staff across the university, including the Office of Global Programs, the Center for Career Education and faculty advisers in academic departments. Additionally, HEOP/NOP peer mentors provide both individualized and group tutoring services and counseling on topics such as career exploration and financial independence. Many HEOP/NOP students also participate in the Center for Student Advising's First in Family programs, a set of workshops, support and mentoring open to all Columbia students who are first-generation college students.

If you work with any students you think may be a strong fit and who may be financially eligible for HEOP at Columbia, I hope you will encourage them to explore Columbia. Or if you have additional questions, please email ugrad-asp@columbia.edu.

I hope you find this information useful as we work together to help students pursue their educational goals.

Sincerely,

Jessica Marinaccio
Dean of Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid

COLUMBIA UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

Columbia University in the City of New York cordially invites you to attend our annual

Multicultural Open House

Saturday, September 16, 2017

At Columbia, students are as diverse in their thinking as they are in their backgrounds. Our university is intellectually vibrant in a place where both tradition and innovation thrive. The Multicultural Open House gives you the unique opportunity to hear from current students and administrators about the distinctive Columbia experience and our vibrant community.

This program includes:

- an activities fair featuring a range of student clubs and organizations

- breakout sessions detailing academic resources and support programs
- an inside look at the admissions process and the opportunity to meet with admissions officers
- a panel of current students and administrators highlighting the dynamic energy of our community
- an optional walking tour of campus

Kindly RSVP, as space is limited.

More information about the program can be found on the event registration page.

We look forward to seeing you and your family on campus this September!

COLUMBIA UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSIONS

The Office of Undergraduate Admissions cordially invites you and your family to attend the

Columbia Engineering Women's Forum
Monday, October 16, 2017
Check-in begins at 8:45 a.m.

Columbia students come from all over the world and represent a variety of academic interests, life experiences and perspectives. With 47% of this year's first-year engineering class comprised of women and with over half of our incoming class self-identifying as students of color, we are one of the most diverse schools of engineering in the country.

At the Engineering Women's Forum students and parents will meet renowned Columbia Engineering faculty, be introduced to Columbia's unique approach to engineering and learn about the exciting opportunities available to female engineers at Columbia.

The program includes:

- A welcome from Columbia Engineering's dean, Dean Mary C. Boyce
- A roundtable discussion with female engineering faculty
- A breakout session with Columbia Engineering faculty
- A panel of student leaders discussing campus life and engineering co-curricular organizations
- An opportunity to speak with Admissions Officers about Columbia's holistic admission process

Kindly RSVP online, as space is limited.

Check-in will begin at 8:45 a.m.; the program starts promptly at 9:15 a.m.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Congratulations!

Welcome to Columbia University!

Show your Columbia Pride!

Tag your photos and posts with #roar2022

We are excited to invite you to our annual Columbia College Perspectives on Diversity and Days on Campus programs for admitted students. Attend master classes; catch a student performance showcase; engage with the Multicultural Recruitment Committee and the Office of Multicultural Affairs; enjoy an evening bus tour of NYC; hear from distinguished alumni; and meet with faculty, administrators and your future classmates.

This is your chance to see what it means to be a Columbian.

Dates and Times

You are invited to attend both Columbia College Days on Campus and Perspectives on Diversity, scheduled for Saturday, April 14, to Monday, April 16. Check in between 3:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. on April 14. Programming will end around 4:00 p.m. on April 16.

Class Visits

Beyond the special master class sessions, you also have the opportunity to attend a class of your choice on Monday, April 16. In addition to registering for Days on Campus, you must also register separately for class visits through the Welcome Website. Please note that space is limited, so we encourage you to sign up as soon as possible.

Hosting

The Admissions Office can arrange for you to stay overnight in a residence hall with a current student host on the evenings of April 14 and April 15. Alternatively, you are welcome to make plans to stay with your family, a friend or someone you know at Columbia.

If you are not able to stay overnight, the Welcome Website gives you the option of registering for daytime programming only.

Registration

Visit our Welcome Website to RSVP, view the schedule of events and get directions to campus and accommodations for family members.

Please feel free to direct any questions to ugrad-welcome@columbia.edu or the Office of Undergraduate Admissions at 212-854-2522, open Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time.

Summer Programs College Fair at Columbia University in the City of New York

Date: Thursday, July 19, 2018

Location: Boone Arledge Auditorium, Lerner Hall
Enter on Broadway between 114th and 115th Streets
Registration Form

Columbia's Office of Undergraduate Admissions invites you and your high school students to participate in our annual summer college fair on Thursday, July 19, 2018. Students and educators will have the chance to meet with representatives from over 100 colleges. The fair is a wonderful opportunity to learn about future educational options, academic and social support at the undergraduate level and financial aid and scholarship resources.

Registration

Groups are asked to register online for one of two sessions, during which students will have access to the college fair and educational workshops on admissions and financial aid. Groups can attend the college fair from 12:00 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. or 2:00 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The educational workshops are scheduled to take place in advance of fair attendance at 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. and will be led by admissions officers from a range of institutions.

To ensure the best possible experience for all attendees, we ask that you please arrive on time and only during your registered time. We anticipate a large number of attendees and will not be able to accommodate guests in advance of their registered time slot.

The registration deadline is Friday, July 6, 2018. We strongly recommend that you register early, as space is limited. Registration will close before the deadline if we reach capacity.

Contact Information

Visit our website for directions to campus and information on parking. Please contact Maria Asayag, Senior Assistant Director of Admissions, with any questions.

We look forward to welcoming your group to campus!

Sincerely,

Jessica Marinaccio
Dean of Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid
